

Although I believe everyone has the right to make a living I do not believe they have az right to interupt your dinner time every evening or your private time with your family. If an hour window period could be set by each individual for these calls it might be acceptable.